That was a meeting of two great fakes when Otis and Shafter shook hands at San Francisco.

The Christian Scientists held a great convention in Boston last week. There were 10,000 people in attendance.

The democratic headquarters is to remain in Chicago instead of being transferred to Washington, as announced.

The government transports free annually about 43,000 tons of postal matter, largely composed of the speeches of congressmen.

Neely is a magnanimous thief. He stole only half of the Cuban postal receipts, when he might just as well have taken the whole cheese.

The value of Transvaal mining machinery is not far from $47,000,000. Most of the machinery (about $40,000,000 worth) is on the Witwatersrand.

Ice trust stock seems to have stuck to the fingers of a good many distinguished citizens of New York. Six of the supreme court judges have got some of it.

Paris contains the finest labor temple in the world. Eighty-two trades and organizations have meeting places and offices under its roof, for which a nominal rent is paid.

Out of 17,000,000 pieces of registered mail landed annually, the loss has been one-thousandth of 1 per cent and in the transmission of ordinary letters the loss is but seven-thousandths of 1 per cent.

Mr. Hearst, owner of the New York Journal and San Francisco Examiner, will establish an afternoon democratic paper in Chicago. The new paper will make its appearance July 4.

The new Spanish loan has been greatly oversubscribed by the Spanish people themselves. A good deal of wealth in the form of hard cash is stored away among the Spaniards.

The fashion of foreign governments owning their embassies or legations in Washington is spreading. Both the French and Russian embassies are negotiating for sites for the erection of buildings for their use.

Princess Aribert of Auhalt, eldest daughter of Princess Christian, and granddaughter of Queen Victoria, is in this country traveling incognito as the Countess of Munsterberg. She will remain in America only a short time.

The discovery of $50,000 between the leaves of a magazine in the library of the late Robert Bonner would seem to show that the most prudent men sometimes find queer depositories for their money.

The president will notify all nations with which the United States holds diplomatic relations that it is the intention of this government to celebrate the centennial anniversary of the Louisiana purchase with a world's fair at St. Louis in 1903.

Counting about seventy-five millions of people is a big job, but the fact that it is undertaken by no less than 52,000 enumerators, not to mention several thousand supervisors, special agents and clerks, makes the individual burden less heavy than would otherwise be the case.

The appearance of the fleets of six civilized nations in Chinese waters and the demonstration in force at the capital of China for the protection of civilization is a spectacular event of the greatest importance. It is doubtful if the forces arranged for the preservation of order will be permanently withdrawn.

That was a pretty cheeky census enumerator of the District of Columbia who called at the White House and asked the president of the United States his present trade or occupation, and how long he had been at it. However, he seems to have obeyed his official instructions.

The session of congress just closed was reasonably short in point of duration, but not in eloquence. The proceedings and speeches fill more than 7,000 pages of the Congressional Record. The Record for the entire session of the Fifty-fourth did not run up to 7,000 pages, and for the first session of the Fifty-fifth there were less than 3,000 pages.

In response to the request made by the United States and Chilean ministers at Bern, to select the third member of the arbitration court, which is to settle the claims and counter-claims held by the citizens of each country against the government of the other, the president of the Swiss republic has selected J. B. Poda, the Swiss minister to the United States, to act in the capacity referred to.

The appropriations made by the first session of the LVth congress amount to $709,729,476. This sum includes $131,247,165, estimated to be on account of or incident to the late war with Spain, and, deducting it, the remaining amount, $578,482,311, represents the ordinary appropriations made for the support of the government during this session.

The number of men engaged in the war in South Africa is now estimated to have reached 266,442. Horses are put at 54,000 and guns at 600. How the colonies have rallied to the British empire may be seen from the following figures, comprised in the grand total: Australasia, 7,000 men; Canada, 3,000 men; South Africa, 21,000 men; India and Ceylon, 625 men.

It is now declared with certainty that Matthew S. Quay has decided to retire from the contest for the United States senatorship since the senate itself and the high powers in the Republican party have turned him down, and that he will soon announce that purpose in a public letter. To several of his political friends he is said to have so declared himself.

Strike sympathizers in St. Louis have begun to beat women who ride upon the street cars, seizing them as they leave the vehicles, kicking them and tearing the clothing from their backs. Setting aside all discussion as to the merits of the strike, there will be little denial of the plain statement that neither friendship nor consideration should be extended to ruffians who attack helpless women.

Envoys of the South African republics say that since they started on their mission they have been under constant surveillance by detectives and secret-service agents of the British government. They assert that from the time of their departure from Pretoria, on shipboard, in the cities where they have stopped, on railroad trains and in hotels they have been followed by men whose object it is to keep close watch and to report as to their movements and conversations.

The recent trial of the men who attempted to dynamite the Welland canal in Canada supplies a striking contrast between methods of legal procedure in that country and the United States. The trial lasted but two days, and the men were sentenced to life imprisonment. Eminent attorneys were employed on both sides, but not an objection or any of the other causes of delay noticeable in American courts developed during the trial. In this country the case would doubtless have consumed weeks, if not months.

The losses by business failures in the last ten years in the United States amount to $1,800,000,000, which is more than twice the amount of the country's circulating medium. In the same time there was a loss of $1,300,000,000 by fires, against which there was an insurance of $800,000,000, leaving a net loss of $500,000,000. The excess of liabilities over assets in the failures of the ten years represents a dead loss of $1,200,000 to 15,000,000 creditors.

A Philadelphia dispatch of June 6 says: The first steps looking to the organization of a national negro party have been taken in this city. Prominent negroes, bishops, ministers, editors and lawyers, at a meeting decided to place a presidential ticket in the field, with negro candidates. The plan is to organize the party in every state in the union and nominate state and congressional offices.

The suggestion adopted by the committee in charge of the republican national convention that the survivors of the first national gathering of republicans, held in Pittsburg on Feb. 22, 1856, and later at the convention held in Philadelphia on June 18 of the same year, be specially honored with invitations to this year's convention came from William P. Weyand of Pittsburg. It met the approval of Senator Hanna, who has sent letter of invitation to each of the surviving delegates, who, so far as known, now number only 14.

A patented collection basket has been introduced in a New York church in lieu of the old-fashioned contribution box. The basket registers the size of each and every contribution, as it is dropped into the slot, and the contributor, as well as his immediate neighbors, has the privilege of seeing the exact amount of his donation recorded. It is calculated that the use of these baskets will increase the average of church collections at least 20 per cent, and perhaps the calculation is correct. There is a good deal of pious deception in this world.

President McKinley has a most difficult matter on his hands to decide, says an exchange. The miners at the Coal Creek company mines, near Knoxville, Tenn., have returned to work, after reaching an agreement with the company to submit their grievances to the arbitration of the president. The men went on a strike on April 10 because four union miners were discharged. The manager of the company and the director of the strikers entered into an agreement that President McKinley would be asked to say whether the four union men should or should not have been discharged, and in any event each side is to submit to his decision. With this understanding all the strikers, who had been out nearly two months, returned to work and the trouble is apparently at an end. They await the president's decision with the confidence that it will be right.

Papers secured show that nearly all the presidents installed by the Americans in Gen. Young's territory in Luzon are treacherous and have been making regular reports to Aguinaldo of the disposition and movements of the American troops. They have also been collecting and forwarding taxes. The captured papers also prove the disloyalty of the native telegraph operators whom the Americans retained on the Cayagan valley line. When Tirona surrendered the Filipino forces in that section these operators professed loyalty and took the oath of allegiance. But it is now shown that they have been sending Aguinaldo copies of important telegrams exchanged between the American officials.

The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Record says: If the republicans in congress can control the Philadelphia convention Mr. Dilliver of Iowa, will be nominated for vice president. He has at last signified his desire for the honor, and if a vote were taken in the house of representatives it would be unanimous in his favor, outside of the New England delegation, who are advocating the nomination of Secretary Long for the second place. It is customary to consult the nominee for president concerning his companion on the ticket, and President McKinley's managers will doubtless ask his wishes before going to Philadelphia. Either Secretary Long or Mr. Dilliver would be agreeable to him, and he will probably tell them so without indicating a choice. There are likely to be other candidates presented, but if it becomes known that the president desires the nomination of either Secretary Long or Mr. Dilliver no one else will have a show.

A Good Cough Remedy.

It speaks well for Chamberlain's cough remedy when druggists use it in their own families in preference to any other. "I have sold Chamberlain's cough remedy for the past five years with complete satisfaction to myself and customers," says Druggist J. Goldsmith, Van Etten, N. Y. "I have always used it in my own family both for ordinary coughs and colds and for the cough following la grippe, and find it very efficacious." For sale by H. C. Hitchcock.

Commerce of the World.

Of the $18,000,000,000 worth of commerce done by all the nations of the world, England's share is 18.3 per cent, Germany's 10.2 per cent, and 9.7 per cent falls to the lot of the United States, writes United States Consul Winter, at Annaberg, in a report to the state department, comparing the relative positions of the three leading countries in the trade markets of the globe.

"Germany," he says, "has built up her foreign commerce at England's expense; and the United States, just entering the field, is building up a great foreign trade at the expense of both England and Germany. In Australia, in Africa, in South America and in China, the commercial representatives of each nation are securing for vantage ground upon which to build safe markets for home industries."

Germany's success in competing in the field of commerce with her mightier rival, England, Consul Winter attributes to several conditions. In the first place, he says German manufactured goods are cheaper, and, in some cases, better. Then, too, German merchants adapt themselves entirely to the wants of their customers and industrial commissions have been sent out to South America, South Africa, Mexico, Japan, China, etc., to study and report upon the conditions and needs of those countries. Again, German traveling men are superior in the technical knowledge of their branches, and are familiar with more languages than the representatives of other nations. Their efficiency in their lines is due to their training in special institutions in Germany.

It didn't take long for Gov. Roosevelt to sign the necessary papers for the extradition of Neely, and he will now be handed over to the Cuban courts, which are exercising civil and criminal jurisdiction under our military authority. This notwithstanding Mr. Hoar's protest in the senate against sending an American citizen out of the country to be tried, as Dreyfus was in France, in a military court.

Mr. W. S. Whedon, cashier of the 1st national bank of Winterset, Iowa, in a recent letter, gives some experience with a carpenter in his employ, that will be of value to other mechanics. He says, "I had a carpenter working for me who was obliged to stop work for several days on account of being troubled with diarrhoea. I mentioned to him that I had been similarly troubled and that Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy had cured me. He bought a bottle of it from the druggist here and informed me that one dose cured him, and he is again at his work." For sale by H. C. Hitchcock.

You may as well expect to run a steam engine without water as find an energetic man with a torpid liver and you may know that his liver is torpid when he does not relish his food or feels dull and languid after eating, often has headache and sometimes dizziness. A few doses of Chamberlain's stomach and liver tablets will restore his liver to its normal functions, renew his vitality, improve his digestion and make him feel like a new man. Price 25 cents. Samples free at Hitchcock's drugstore.

A Sprained Ankle Quickly Cured.

"At one time I suffered from a severe sprain of the ankle," says George E. Cary, editor of the Guide, Washington, Va. "After using several well recommended medicines without success, I tried Chamberlain's pain balm, and am pleased to say that relief came as soon as I began its use; a complete cure speedily followed." Sold by H. C. Hitchcock.
